PUBLISHING WORKSHOP
December 2nd 2019, Lyon, France

JBE
Journal of Business Ethics

This Publishing Workshop aims at helping researchers to transform their research papers into articles for submission to Journal of Business Ethics. Three section editors of JBR are taking part on the workshop. The objective is to provide first feedbacks and spend time with authors to help them positioning and improving their papers before submission.

Discussants:

Julia Roloff
Associate Professor
Rennes School of Business

Section editor at JBE
Small Business, Entrepreneurship, Social Enterprise and Business Ethics

Laurence Romani,
Associate Professor,
Stockolm School of Economics

Section editor at JBE
Cross-cultural Management and Business Ethics

David Wasieleski
Professor at Duquesne University
Affiliate Research Professor at ICN Business School

Section editor at JBE
Behavioral Business Ethics:

Organizers:
Kiane Goudarzi, iaelyon School of Management, Professor
Marco Heimann, iaelyon School of Management, Assistant Professor
Participation fees: 300 euros (it includes the participation to the session, lunch and breaks) An option at 500 euros including the copyediting of the article is also available
Key deadlines:
- Full paper submission: October the 13th, *20*19
- Acceptance notification: October the 16th 2019
- Deadline for registration: October the 20th 2019

Contributions and information requests are to be sent to kiane.goudarzi@univ-lyon3.fr and marco.heimann@univ-lyon3.fr with "publishing workshop JBE" as the object of the mail. Authors should specify the section of JBE to which they want to submit and respect JBE format guidelines.

Papers will be selected based on the potential value of their contribution as well as on the respective expertise of section editors involved. Being accepted to the workshop does not guarantee any acceptance of the paper in the journal. Yet, to be eligible for the Workshop, the abstract / paper should have been accepted for presentation in a major conference in the field (to be specified in the submission mail).

Authors have to participate intensively before and during the conference: Before the conference, they review the papers of other participants (2 maximum) and modify their own article (based on preliminary feedbacks received mid-November from the editor and other authors). During the workshop they present major contributions and modifications made on their own papers and give formalized suggestions on the second version of the article of others' papers. The organization committee manages authors, editor's interactions with authors, and copy editing options. The copy editing is handled by Elsevier Services, and can be used before or after the workshop.